Smith Elevates Judge Hasbrouck to Appellate Court

Hasbrouck Designated Temporarily to Appellate Division by Governor Smith—Judge Cochran's Resignation Causes Two Changes in That Court—Interesting Judicial Situation.

The Albany Knickerbocker Press writes: Governor Smith yesterday designated Judge Charles C. Van Kirk of Kingston, Washington county, as temporary justice of the appellate division, third judicial district, and Judge John B. Hasbrouck of Albany as temporary justice of the third, fourth and fifth judicial districts.

Justice Van Kirk was named to succeed Justice A. V. S. Cochran, whose resignation was accepted along with the resignation of Justice Van Kirk.

To fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Justice Cochran, the governor designated Justice Edward C. Schenck of Schenectady to the appellate division.

In elevating Justice Van Kirk, the governor picked the senior member of the court to succeed Justice Cochran, whose term would have expired on December 31 next had he not resigned. Justice Cochran was appointed to the appellate division in 1926.

The governor also announced that he temporarily designated Supreme Court Justice Gilbert D. B. Hasbrouck to the appellate division.

Justices Asked Designation. The Hasbrouck designation was made upon the certification of the members of the appellate division that the designation was necessary for the speedy disposition of the business of the court.

Justice Hasbrouck lives at Kingston. Besides Albany, the counties in the third judicial district include Rensselaer, Columbia, Ulster, Sullivan, Schoharie.

The resignation of Justice Cochran, coming on the heels of the resignation of former Supreme Court Justice Joseph Rosch, means that two supreme court justices will be to be elected at the election in November.

Since the possibility of Justice Rosch's resignation was reported, there has been talk in both Republican and Democratic circles of a possible nomination of a non-partisan judicial ticket that would result in the endorsement of a Republican nominee by the Democrats and the endorsement of a Democratic nominee by the Republicans.

For years, no Democratic candidate has been able to be elected to the supreme court bench in the third judicial district, a fact that has undoubtedly led to the Democratic overtures for a non-partisan ticket in the district this year.

A final decision on this subject is likely within a short time, according to party leaders. Conferences on the subject have been going on from time to time.

May Be Smith and Smith. In the event that a non-partisan arrangement is made the Democrats will propose Justice George H. Smith of Monticello, Sullivan county, as their choice and the Republican endorsement will go to him.

There are numerous aspirants for the nomination on the Republican side. Former Judge Sanford W. Smith of the court of claims bench is being advanced for the nomination by the organization Republicans of Columbia county, who maintain the nomination by right of succession goes to Columbia county.

Philip Elling, collector of the Port of New York and a Republican power in the third judicial district, is being mentioned, along with Charles W. Walton, former state senator, whose name is in Ulster county though he practices law in Albany much of the time.

In addition there are reported to be several dark horses whose names are not yet brought to the fore. The general impression among both Republican and Democratic leaders in the third judicial district, however, is that if a non-partisan judicial ticket is finally agreed upon, it is more likely than not to be Smith for the Democrats and Smith for the Republicans.

Tornado Sweeps Southern Ohio For Pension Fund

Killing One Man and Injuring Numerous Persons—Early Estimates Place Damages at More Than $100,000.

Cincinnati, Jan. 19 (AP).—One man was killed, numerous persons injured and buildings blown down in a tornado that swept southern Ohio today. First reports indicated the storm extended from Washington Courthouse, near the center of the state, down into the blue grass district of Kentucky.

A. R. Kruger, Darton traveling man, was killed when the coping of a building was blown down on his car at Washington Courthouse.

Heaviest damage was indicated at Cumminsville and East Hamilton, suburbs of Cincinnati, and at Hamilton.

Communication lines were down and definite information was lacking. Early estimates place damages at more than $100,000.

Hospitals reported that ten persons were being treated for injuries, none serious.

Two school children were reported injured at East Hamilton when the storm hit a school building.

Heaviest damage appeared to have been done in Cincinnati's northern suburbs where houses and barns were unroofed, garages blown over and telephone and telegraph poles and trees leveled. A building rain-storm accompanied the high wind.

The rain was so heavy that for a time automobiles were at a standstill.

Shortly before noon the rain abated and the sun came out. The storm apparently jumped from here toward Louisville, where several persons were reported to have been injured and buildings damaged.

Greatly Pleased With His Reception in Havana—Hopes Journey Will Result in Firmer Foundation of Good Will.

Washington, Jan. 19 (AP).—Greatly pleased with his reception in Havana, President Coolidge returned to his desk today in the hope that his first journey to Latin America would result in a firmer foundation of good will among the nations of the new world.

He reached Washington shortly after 7 o'clock and left his special train immediately with Mrs. Coolidge for the White House for breakfast.

Secretary Kellogg, who said before leaving the special train that the President would demonstrate the eagerness of this country to stand on an equality with other countries of the western hemisphere, went directly to his home with Mrs. Kellogg, as did Secretary and Mrs. Wilson.

The President was welcomed at the station by the Cuban charge d'affaires and other members of the embassy staff. The charge expressed the hope that Mr. and Mrs. Coolidge had enjoyed their trip and the President replied that it had been a joyous experience.

Annual Meeting Mollott Making Big Improvement

Wall Street Clothing Store to Be Remodeled—Temporary Quarters Secured in Mable Building While Alterations Are in Progress.

Plans for the alteration and remodeling of the clothing store at 362 Wall street have been completed and work will be commenced about February 1. Already a quantity of steel has arrived on the scene.

Mollott, who began business on Wall street 14 years ago, has occupied his present location for the past eight years.

The building formerly housed two stores, one of which was occupied by Mr. Mollott and the other by Mr. Miller's shoe store. Some time ago Mr. Mollott took over the entire ground floor and Mr. Miller moved his shoe store to the upstairs shop now occupied by him.

At that time Mr. Mollott had a portion of the walls removed and the two stores were connected by archways. This was a temporary arrangement and now Mr. Mollott intends to completely remodel the interior of the store, making one large store.

The show windows will have a depth of 15 feet, giving ample window space at the store frontage on Wall street is 27 feet. The front will be in marble trim and will be one of the finest fronts on the east side of Wall street.

The dividing arches will be removed from the store and the entire ground floor will be made in one commodious store. All of the departments will be rearranged. New by Henry L. Stimson, personal representative of the store.

In order that work may go on unhampered during alterations, Mr. Mollott will move his stock of goods to the McCabe building on Wall street, adjoining McCabe's restaurant in the building formerly occupied by the Mohican Company store. He will occupy these temporary quarters during the time alterations in his own building are going on.

It is anticipated that work will commence on the alterations about the first of February and will be completed about April 1.

In order to reduce his stock and save the necessity of moving as much of his merchandise as possible, Mr. Mollott will conduct a clearance sale which will continue until the date of his removal to his temporary quarters in the McCabe building.

Announcement of the sale will be made through the columns of The Freeman.

Plans for the remodeling of the Mollott building were prepared by Architect Gerard W. Betz.

Adams on Trial as Second Offender

Negro Accused of Taking Roll of Money From Theodore Laifstad at Place on East Union Street Last October.

The trial of Samuel Adams, a negro charged with grand larceny, first degree, was taken up in county court Wednesday before Judge Fowler and a jury. Adams is charged with grand larceny as a second offender, which under the Baumes law is a serious charge. He was convicted previously of grand larceny and served a term in Dannemora, returning to Kingston at the expiration of his term.

Adams is standing trial on a charge of taking a roll of money from Theodore Laifstad on October 25, 1927, at a place at 51 East Union street conducted by Eva Williams, a negro, who is known among her associates as "Joe-Joe".

Laifstad was employed on a dredge tied up at the Island Dock for repairs and on the night in question came ashore seeking amusement. With him was a Richard Romeo, a fellow employee. They landed at Darrenbacher's Corner and there met two young men, Hicks and Albright, who directed them to a place where they could drink liquor and other amusements.

Eventually they landed at Eva's place where, according to Laifstad, he and Romeo had several drinks of corn whiskey.

After some eight or nine drinks Laifstad said he felt considerably what happened afterward. According to his story when he and Romeo arrived at Eva's place they found only Eva and William W. Daniel, a negro known as "Black Ace" Daniel, who was referred to during the trial as "the bum".

It is alleged that while there were drinks flowing in Eva's place someone took Laifstad's pocketbook containing $120 from his hip pocket. It is alleged that Adams is the negro who took it.

The trial was continued this afternoon with Laifstad still on the witness stand at the reconvening of the court.

General Sandino Robinson Gets Confidence Vote; Heflin Absent

But One Dissenting Vote Cast by Trammell of Florida—Confidence Called Following Heflin's Attack on Catholic Church and Governor Smith.

Washington, Jan. 19 (AP).—Senator Robinson's unopposed victory on the Catholic Church and Governor Smith today at a conference of his fellow Democrats in the Senate.

Robinson's repeated use of the Senate as the forum for his attack on the Catholic Church and Governor Smith had been a source of controversy to the Democrats.

Robinson had been expected to win the confidence vote, but one dissenting vote, cast by Trammell of Florida, Heflin of Alabama and a dozen others of forty-six Democratic senators were absent.

Robinson and Heflin's Alabama colleague, Senator Black, did not vote.

Announcement of the result was made before the conference broke up by Senator Caraway of Arkansas. He said the conference had also given Robinson a second vote of confidence on his work as a member of the special Mexican slush fund committee from which committee Heflin asked yesterday that the party leader be removed.

The Resolution. This resolution was adopted by the conference. "Resolved, that this conference of Democratic members of the senate expresses its confidence in the leadership of Senator Robinson and in his service on the special committee named to investigate the alleged secret Mexican documents."

Senator Trammell said he "meant no disrespect to Senator Robinson." "I take the position that controversy arising between Senator Robinson and Senator Heflin was a matter upon which a Democratic conference should not express itself," said the Florida senator.

The issues arising between these two senators would be passed upon by conference action in my opinion. I take the position that Senator Heflin had a perfect right to make the speech he made and that it is not a question for the Democrats to take sides as between these two senators.

Senator Black Excused. Before the vote on the resolution, the conference unanimously voted that Senator Black should be excused from casting a ballot in a matter affecting his colleague. He himself did not raise the question.

Robinson called the meeting to order, stated its purpose and then surrendered the chair to Senator Bayard of Delaware.

Immediately Senator Glass of Virginia offered the resolution of confidence. The discussion lasted three quarters of an hour.

Senators who did not attend the conference were Arthur of Arizona; Blease and Smith, South Carolina; Bratton, New Mexico; Hayden, Arizona; Hill, Washington; Hays, Nevada; New Jersey; Heflin, Alabama; New West Virginia; Randall, Louisiana; Reed, Missouri; and Stephens of Mississippi.

Some of these were detained in committee hearings and others are absent from Washington.

Robinson Called Caucus. The caucus was called by Robinson himself when his leadership was challenged by the Alabama after Heflin had been sharply rebuked by his chief for his repeated attacks upon the Roman Catholic Church, its "political machine," Governor Al Smith, and Tammany Hall.

As drawn by the two senators in a contest of nearly three hours before attentive colleagues and spectators, the issue before the Democrats was whether they approve the steering committee of Robinson and his opposition to Heflin's anti-Catholic tirades, or support Heflin.

Beginning with Heflin's criticism of William Randolph Hearst for his publication of the Mexican slush fund documents, the drama moved to its startling climax after the Alabama had demanded Robinson's removal from the committee which investigated the slush fund.

Robinson had attributed publication of the purported Mexican documents, naming him and three other senators as slush fund beneficiaries to a Roman Catholic Church conspiracy against him. His demand for Robinson's recall from the committee followed the latter's declaration that the committee was composed of members of the slush fund.

Robinson then demanded Heflin's attack on the Catholic Church and Governor Smith, to which the Alabama senator replied: "The Senate from Arkansas cannot remain leader of the Democrats and sell the Roman Catholic Church."

"Whenever the Senator from Alabama can determine who shall be the leader of the Democratic party in the Senate of the United States," Robinson replied, "that party can be doing nicely."

Werrenrath Leads in American Music

Famous Harpist Who Comes to Kingston on January 29 Has Done More Than Any Musician Now Before Public to Champion Cause of American Music.

Reinhold Werrenrath, whose name is familiar to the musical world, is here to champion the cause of American music. He is a famous harpist who has done more than any musician now before the public to champion the cause of American music. He is a famous harpist who has done more than any musician now before the public to champion the cause of American music.

He inaugurated the new famous Atwater Kent Sunday night radio hour and sang at the Minnesota reception to Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh in Washington last year. When the tenth wonder of the world, The Vitaphone, made its appearance recently, he was one of the first artists to record under this new method, and appeared in the program which preceded the Warner Brothers' "The Better 'Ol'".

The manager replied that the harpist might have been in the audience, but as far as he knew he was then out of New York. It took many minutes of explanation, persuasion and finally a visit behind the screen to assure the patron that it was a reproduction of Mr. Werrenrath's voice that had been synchronized to the picture.

Reinhold Werrenrath is truly a pioneer, one who has created for himself an individual place in American music. He will appear in Kingston at the High School Auditorium on Monday, January 29, under the auspices of the Schubert Choral Club of the Y. W. C. A.

Boy Is Caught in Large School Vault

New York.—It is a certainty that Albert Altwater, thirteen, of Hackensack, N. J., hereafter will pay more heed to his parents' warning that "curiosity killed a cat."

Albert's curiosity led him into a vault in the new State street school, Hackensack, and caused a lot of excitement for police and firemen when his playmate, Arnold Erupacker, eleven, accidentally closed the door and imprisoned him.

The boy's predicament turned Hackensack upside down for an hour before an official of the board of education was called from his home and opened the huge vault, which reaches from floor to ceiling. Albert was imprisoned without fresh air five minutes before firemen cut a hole in the side. Then they bade Albert be calm and prepared to pump oxygen into the vault.

Interesting Outfit for Young Misses Who Care

Farm and Fireside recommends the dress shown here for its jaunty pockets, the interesting cut in the skirt, the extended waistline of the blouse, the double-breasted effect, the buttons and faced collar—all the newest fashion notes. It is so desirable and practical that every girl will admire it. This can be made in a combination of browns, blues, reds, greens, or grays. The buttons for such a frock may be novelty brass or crystal, or covered buttons of the blouse fabric. In any event they should be small enough to be smart and large enough to have a definite trimming appeal.

Milady Has Choice of Many Styles of Gloves

The well-dressed woman is very careful about the selection of her gloves. Washable kid and chambray are not only good looking but very practical for general wear. The pull-on or one-button styles are equally popular this season and leading colors are French ivory, tans, browns, grays, black with white or colored stitching and white for dress, ornamented with black or colored embroidery. These are seen on the majority of gloves and these are fancy or plain as the individual taste dictates—petite points, metallic embroidery, Capeskin, pigskin and doekskin gloves are nice for sports wear and hand stitching gives a distinctive finishing touch.

Accessories Play Part in Charming Ensemble

A costume is as smart as its accessories. And, in this age of "harmonizing trifles" one can be artistically gowned, and without a great deal of expense if the details are carefully planned. With several frocks as a foundation, a different belt, matching shoulder flower and proper jewelry will transform the creation into something entirely different in appearance and give the effect of a new frock.

Bejeweled belt buckles with matching choker beads; gloves and handbags of the same material; shoulder flowers or pins to correspond with belt; and many other ingenious ways of combining accessories do much to present a charming ensemble.

Black Chiffon Lends Charm to White Skin

White arms and snowy shoulders look even whiter and snowier in black chiffon. That adequately explains the vogue for black chiffon evening dresses. With most of the décolletés, arms and shoulders have full opportunity to look white. One new evening dress recently imported has a bodice entirely composed of a chiffon scarf crossed in front and knotted at the back. In the back it is not knotted high.

Rabbit Skin Popular for Lining for Coats

One wonders what all the furriers would do if anything should happen to the rabbit supply. There are scores of furs today known by all sorts of obscure names which have their origin in the humble rabbit skin that made Baby Bunting famous. These furs are, in the main, used for linings, for it is about as smart to have a well-cut tuxedo coat lined with fur as to have a fur coat lined with crepe, lace or other material.

Oxalic Acid Removes Stains

Perspiration stains may be removed by treating them with a solution of oxalic acid and water. Use one twentieth as much acid as water. Put the fluid on with a fresh cloth. Remember that oxalic acid is poison. It should be kept in a safe place or handled very carefully.

Surplice Line Revived

The surplice line, always liked, but frequently out of favor, is revived, often plus soft revers, which may serve as an excuse for introducing a contrasting fabric or color or provide a background for trimming.

Millionaire Reporter to Keep Job After Wedding

JOHN BARRY RYAN, JR. (International Illustrated News)

Another marriage that brings together two of the wealthiest and most socially prominent families in the United States is in the offing.

The principals in this blue-blooded romance are Margaret D. Kahn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Otto H. Kahn of New York, and John Barry Ryan, Jr., son and heir of the noted millionaire and grandson of Thomas Fortune Ryan.

Following the formal announcement of the engagement, young Ryan was discovered working as a reporter on a Newark (N. J.) paper. Ryan grinned, confirmed the report, announced that he would keep right on at his profession, and then waved would-be interviewers away, telling them that he had to hop out and get on a story that had just "broken."

No date for the marriage has been set. Miss Kahn is 26 and her millionaire-reporter-fiance is just one year older. The bride-to-be's father is head of the powerful financial house of Kuhn, Loeb & Co., and long noted for his philanthropies as well as generous subsidies to the musical and theatrical world.

DREAD 'NORTHER' OF SEA TRACED

Starts Damaging Career as Dakota Cold Wave, Scientists Say.

Scientists say the "dread northern" of the sea, which has been traced to the Dakota cold wave, is a powerful force that is now moving southward. The cold wave, which originated in the north, is now moving southward, and is expected to reach the coast of the United States in a few days. The cold wave is a powerful force that is now moving southward, and is expected to reach the coast of the United States in a few days. The cold wave is a powerful force that is now moving southward, and is expected to reach the coast of the United States in a few days.

Takes Lick at Texas. Meanwhile, as the storm descends from the Dakota, the air over the Texas plains is warm and humid, with a gentle breeze blowing from the south. Suddenly, dark clouds, advancing slowly or with a tumultuous rapidity from the northward, make the southern squall line of the storm wave. Here comes the lightning; but now, if we wish, we may call it a "Texas norther."

The first blast of the squall is cold. If rain has been falling, the precipitation may quickly change to sleet or snow. This, with the sharp fall in temperature, is highly disagreeable to all living beings, even deadly if accompanied by too long exposure, while it is disastrous to tender vegetation. If there has been no precipitation preceding the burst, and none should happen to follow it, the norther may be classed as dry instead of wet.

The anticyclone continues to advance southward, meanwhile spreading to the east. It reaches the coast and enters upon the waters of the Gulf of Mexico. There great velocities may be developed, and squalls of even greater intensity may occur along particularly exposed portions of the coast.

Brings Frost to South. Meanwhile the line of frost also advances into the southland. A freeze threatens the orange groves. The inhabitants of eastern Mexico, even of Honduras, the Florida keys, and of Cuba, perhaps, shiver under the influence of the unwanted chill. "Small streams of the norther flow over the Mexican passes of the Cordilleras into the Pacific, but the great main current presses on to the southward and eastward, into the Caribbean and toward the open Atlantic, but only cooling and disturbing the eastern littoral of the upper Central American states and adjacent waters to the West Indies, but finally, perhaps, venting the last feeble puffs of its energy up the harbors of Panama and even the more distant coasts of Colombia."

Hair of Black Mice

Whitens Under X-Ray

Pittsburgh, Pa.—Dr. Robert T. Hance, head of the zoology department of the University of Pittsburgh and connected with the Rockefeller Institute for Medical Research, has been studying the biological effect of X-rays with a view to discovering what the X-ray can do to benefit man and wherein it does him only harm. Among his experiments was one which showed that the longer a potato is exposed to X-rays, the blacker it gets, but that when a mouse is exposed to the rays longer than a certain period, its hair becomes white, a result, incidentally, which Doctor Hance believes is due to the destruction of the organ which produces the pigment.

When mice with dark hair had been exposed to X-rays up to a certain point, they turned darker and darker as did the potato. Doctor Hance discovered, but after a few weeks, the mice became white. The dark hair fell out and was replaced by the white.

Doctor Hance also states that it took a longer exposure to X-rays to turn to white the hair of pure agouti mice than it did mice whose parents were both pure black.

Youth Halts Yale Dean as Bootlegger at Bowl

New Haven, Conn.—The sermons of Dean Charles Reynolds Brown, of the Yale Divinity school, are more familiar to the student body than to his face, so when he attempted to carry a traveling bag into the Yale bowl he was halted by a student ticket taker who remarked that he "looked like a bootlegger."

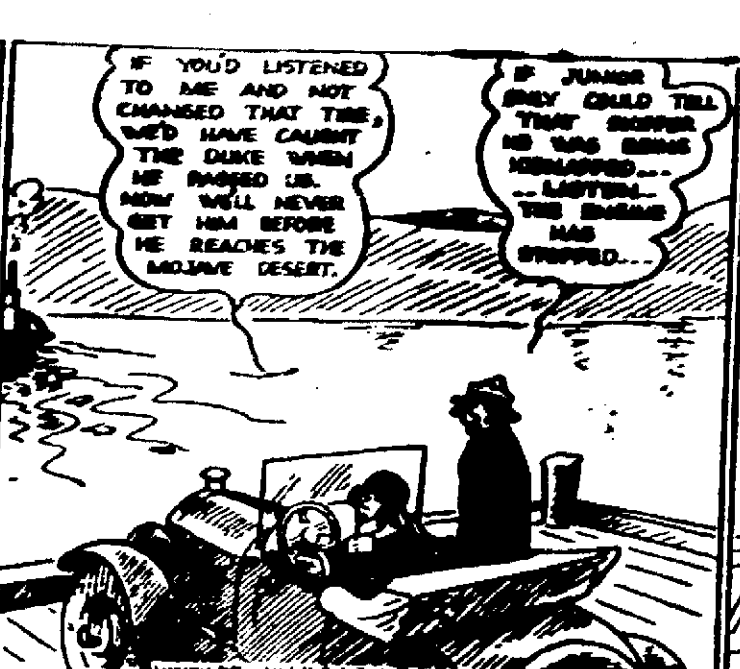

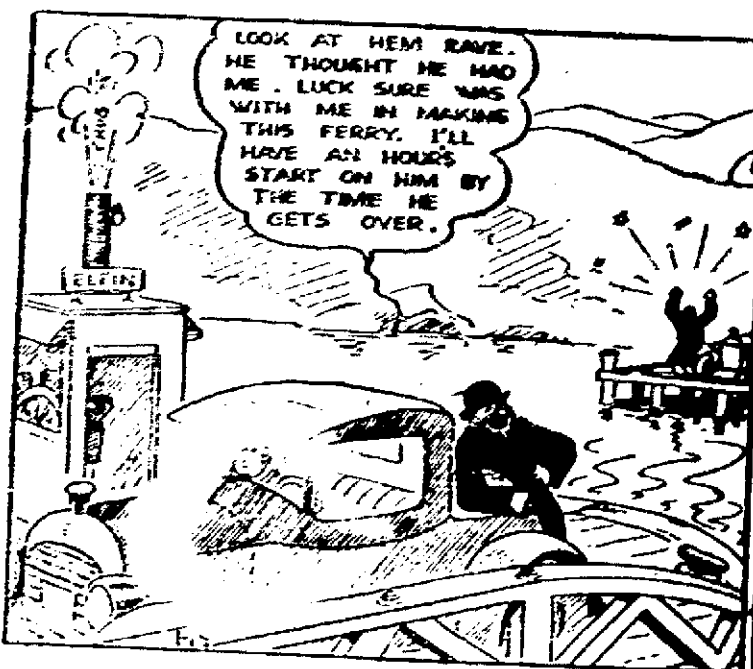

In vain the dean tried to convince the lad that he was but a poor divine who was taking to Cambridge. Before he could enter the gates the dean was forced to make the rounds until he found a ticket taker who recognized him and was willing to take a chance that his bag was not full of "hook."

Food for Babies

Another somewhat amusing feature of the general situation is the eminent dietitian letting on to know much better than old Mother Nature what's the best food for little bits of babies.—Ohio State Journal.

REYNOLDS' RECOLLECTIONS

The Signal Of Freedom

Down through the valley "hay-foot" "straw-foot" sweeps of chilling winds—furies of blinding snows—and cold—forever cold. Right here in our Hudson Valley and surrounding territory did the brave, hastily formed army battle their way to victory—for freedom and liberty.

It was during the Revolution that the Beacon Mountains were named. Beacon lights were used on these mountains as signals—at times a warning of coming attacks—at others a call of mobilization. The lights that flared on Beacon Mountain have come to be known as the signals of freedom. Our aim has been to make the House of Reynolds the "signal" for high quality good food. Our success in that aim is told in over a century of service in the Hudson Valley. Today Reynolds' Reliance Food products are found at all Independent Grocers.

Reynolds' Reliance Spices

Make good food taste even better with the right seasoning. Finely ground pure black pepper, white pepper, red pepper, cinnamon, mustard, ginger, nutmeg, cloves, allspice, sage, paprika, turmeric, thyme and more are packed under the Reynolds' Label. Each comes in convenient can with pouring and sifting top.

Reynolds' Reliance Molasses

The finest of pure golden molasses from the sunny sugar plantations. For years women of the Hudson Valley have used it to insure the success of their recipes. You will know its high quality by its delicious flavor. Rich in sugar content. Include a can with your next order.

Good FRESH Coffee

Rich, golden-brown coffee—as fragrant and refreshing as the early morning breeze over newly cut clover. It whips weary appetites into keen appreciation. It is the joy of everyone who drinks it—the aim of everyone who makes coffee. You can have it morning, noon and night—

—and here is how

Reynolds' Reliance Coffee comes to you within 30 days after it is roasted here in the Hudson Valley. It gives you all of the full coffee flavor—the tempting aroma—and assures the deliciousness of every cup you brew.

—it is custom-blended for you

Years ago our expert coffee-taster blended this coffee to please the taste of the Hudson Valley people. It is not a general blend made for the mass population of the country but a skillful custom-blend for your exclusive satisfaction.

TOP BAD BREATH

People afflicted with bad breath find relief through Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. The pleasant, sugar-coated tablets are taken for bad breath by all who know them.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets act gently on the bowels and liver, bringing them to natural action, and thus prevent and gently purify the system. They do that which nature alone does without any of the harsh effects.

One tablet being no gripping, pain producing effect.

Dr. F. M. Edwards discovered the power of 25 years of practice among people afflicted with bowel and liver troubles, with attendant bad breath. One tablet is purely a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil; you will feel them by their olive color. Take one by a week and note the effect. Dr. F. M. Edwards.

Rotarians Lead World in Singing

Vocalists in the Kingston Rotary Club, notably the song leader and the only original prima donna in pants, are vastly put up over the compliment handed to them at their weekly luncheon by Judge Clearwater. The judge prefaced his address with a statement that this was the seventeenth invitation he had received to talk about Niagara Falls, invitations having come from points as far away as Winnipeg, Canada, and Charleston, S. C., and he had come very near to treating this invitation as he had the other 16, by replying that his public speaking days were over. However, after hearing the Rotarians sing, he was overjoyed that he had made an exception and accepted the invitation. For never, in all the parts of the world he had visited, had he heard such singing. He appealed to Father Harford to corroborate him in the statement that even the Sistine Choir in Rome was merely playing second fiddle to the Kingston talent. Father Harford nodded his concurrence.

Preceding the judge's address, Father Harford told of a recent visit to Montreal on church business and of the work being done there by Rotarians. While many other Kingston Rotarians have visited Montreal, Father Harford enjoys the distinction of being the only one to make the trip on church business and so specify in his report.

YOUTH GETS TEN YEAR SENTENCE FOR LARCENY

Virgil Hall, Illinois youth, recently convicted at Newburgh for frisking a drunken man's pockets in the West Shore station there, was sentenced Tuesday to serve ten years in Sing Sing prison for the first degree grand larceny charge, as a second offender. The amount stolen by Hall amounted to $5. The youth, who has previously served time in jail, took the sentence with a grin. He was arrested by Emil Hostler of the West Shore railroad police and Charles Roosa, railroad detective. An investigation failed to corroborate the idea first held that Hall was a mental defective.

CAN FIND NO TRACE OF THORNTON'S RELATIVES

Andrew B. Thornton, colored, was killed by a train in New Town, Conn., recently, according to a telegram received by Chief of Police Patrick Ryan of Catskill on Monday. A card of the colored Masonic Lodge of Catskill served to identify the man, none of whose relatives can be found. He joined the Catskill lodge when working on the Gilboa dam but Henry Evans, officer of the lodge, said he had heard nothing of Thornton for some years and could not say where his home was.

Events Around The Empire State

(By The Associated Press.)

Anasible—Miss Martha Webber of the hamlet of Anasible was close to death recently when her jaws were locked for three days after she had some teeth extracted. She is now recovering.

Ticonderoga—Four generations of the family were present when Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lewis Crandall celebrated their golden wedding anniversary. The youngest member of the family was a baby great granddaughter.

Ellenburgh Center—The golden wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Hobbs of this village was notable because it was the second event of like type for the same family and held in the same home. Some years ago Mr. Hobbs's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Silas Kent, celebrated a half century of wedded life there.

Wellsville—A workman who saw a collie dog and a sheep romping and sought to save the dog from another hunt by the sheep attracted the sheep's attention to himself, but while the sheep made a frontal attack the dog attacked from the rear. The well-meaning man was kept busy.

Lewis—Henry Flagg of Lewis, at seventy-eight years of age, scorns the use of a car to get him about the Adirondacks. Recently he walked eight miles to spend the holiday at the home of friends. On the next day he walked ten miles with his much younger host, just to work up an appetite for dinner.

Saranac Lake—Chickens as well as deer and sheep are preyed upon by the half wild dogs that have become a menace in all sections of the Adirondacks. A dog raid in the poultry yard of Charles A. Annis, who lives near Lake Placid, resulted in the destruction of one hundred and one White Leghorn hens.

Dunkirk—Chautauqua county sportsmen will ask the Legislature for an appropriation of $125,000 for the purchase of adequate equipment for furnishing spawn for fish hatcheries, and for installing bass ponds on the grounds for the Dunkirk hatchery. The bass spawning season is from May to December, and this would keep the local hatchery in operation for the entire year.

not over a corset, or at least over anything that gives the impression of a corset. The body, to be smart, must remain flexible. There is nothing to suggest rigid lines. Even the tightest hip and the most delicate of the waistline are the natural lines of the body. It is the making of an impression that counts. The body must be made to show the waist-line. The first dress is a simple, straight, black dress with a white belt. The second is a black dress with a white belt and a white collar. The third is a black dress with a white belt and a white collar. The fourth is a black dress with a white belt and a white collar.

Ball, Lozenge-Shaped Pendants, Paris Mode

The latest piece of costume jewelry is the ball or lozenge-shaped pendant which is attached to the blouse or dress with the wrap-around or side closing at the left side of the blouse, high up.

Done green or pink, coral, carnelian and crystal are used for the pendants, but jade is by far the most popular. Sometimes two of the pendants are used but the prevalent fashion is one only. The ornaments are equally popular for silk or woolen costumes.

Good Combination

Angora is an important combining feature in the new sports type frocks. For instance, bright blue velvet and a lighter blue angora combine in one model. Pale gray angora is used with black wool crepe in another.

Uses of Aniline Dyes

Transparent, colorless animals such as the jellyfish can quite readily be turned blue or red with aniline dyes while remaining in perfect health. Pigs, again, have been fed with madder, which gives their bones a pink color, and this procedure has been used to study the growth of bone. For if the madder is fed one day and not the next, the bone formed on the first day will show up as a pink layer.

Utility of Discussion

The more discussion the better if passion and personality be eschewed, and discussion, even if stormy, often winnows truth from error—a good never to be expected in an uninquiring age.—Channing.

Seasonable Goodies

AT THIS season of the year our busy people cakes and cookies would keep as well as mince meat and plum puddings.

Ice Box Cookies.

Take one cupful each of brown sugar, granulated sugar, butter, and eggs. One teaspoonful of vanilla, two eggs, one teaspoonful of salt, one teaspoonful of almond extract and four and one-fourth cupfuls of sifted flour. Mix well, add almonds or pecans, using a few for decorating the top when ready for the pan. Roll up into small round long rolls and set away over night in a cold place to become hard. In the morning cut into thin slices; decorate with the nuts and bake in a hot oven.

Fruit Gelatin Salad.

Dissolve a package of lemon gelatin in a pint of boiling water. While it is cooling prepare diced pineapple, mango grapes—removing the seeds—and slices and small sections of oranges. Mix the fruit, fill individual molds with the mixture when the gelatin is beginning to thicken. Let harden and serve on a bed of lettuce. Cover with mayonnaise dressing thinned with whipped cream.

Grandmother's Date Cake.

Put half a cupful of butter softened slightly into a mixing bowl, add two and two-thirds cupfuls of brown sugar, four beaten eggs, one cupful of milk, three and one-half cupfuls of flour, four teaspoonfuls of baking powder, one teaspoonful each of cinnamon and nutmeg and one pound of dates, stoned and finely cut. Bake in a tube pan.

Baked Bananas.

From each banana strip the skin and scrape off the stringy portion, leaving the skin around the fruit. Sprinkle over each banana one-half teaspoonful of lemon juice and a tea spoonful each of butter and sugar, creamed together. Place in a granite pan and bake, basting often during fifteen minutes in a hot oven.

Make Scrap Books From Discarded Flour Bags

Scrap books are one of the most welcome donations that veterans' and children's hospitals can receive. They are flexible, light to hold and will stand a great deal of punishment. A cloth scrap book is still going strong when a magazine is dropping to pieces. Making these scrap books, then, is one of the most helpful and sensible projects that any individual or group, such as an aid society, guild, neighborhood group or Sunday school class, could undertake, and one of the least expensive.

Empty flour bags such as almost any baker will let you have for a few cents each are used for making the books. It is never hard to get donations of magazines and these, with some glue or rubber cement, are the only materials needed. The bags are first ripped and the stamping removed by covering it with lard or soaking it in kerosene overnight and then washing out in lukewarm water. The cloth is about 36 by 42 inches. One bag will make a 24-page book with the leaves 10 by 12. It is sewn through the middle with embroidery twist. The edges may be left raw or pinked. The cover page should be bright and attractive and of fairly heavy paper. The contents should be chosen with a good deal of care. Be sure to select articles set in large type. One suggestion is to take all the illustrations of some popular story that has appeared serially and paste them up in a single scrap book, including the illustrations. Another is to have a miscellany of light verse, sketches, short stories, articles of popular interest, jokes, and cross-word puzzles. The answers to the puzzles should be put in the back of the book.

In making scrap books for children, the range of material can be greater and may include pretty valentines and Christmas cards, animal cut-outs, simple puzzles and clippings from some of the splendid children's magazines.

Grow on Reflection

Our skin, like to our shadows when the day is in all its glory, scarce appeared; toward our evening how great and monstrous they are.—Sackling.

Youthful Note in New Sheer Velvet

Black Is Favorite for Both Formal and Informal Appearances.

There is a possibility that youth will be stressed even in a season where the formal note is used to do all that is chic. Simplicity in the costumes, while not always the dominant note, is one that is not being neglected for the person who wears and looks best in the frock of youthful charm and simplicity.

Black velvet happens to be one of the season's favorite fabrics. It appears in many costumes for both formal and informal appearances. There are dresses of black velvet that spell almost severe outlines and the simplest of details in the matter of trimming. And there are, too, costumes of black velvet that may be seen for the most formal of parties. Ribbons, laces and appliques do their utmost to make effective the formal frock of black velvet.

The youthful note that is so very smartly inspired in many of the new frocks obtains its charm through simplicity of line and of trimming. There is an absence of panels, side fullnesses and points and rather a stressing of the slender silhouette. Virginia Lee Corbin, the moving picture actress, a type demanding simplicity in all her clothes, has selected a frock of charming lines in the new sheer velvet. Its buttons down the front and around the collar and cuffs are its only trimming. The black is particularly effective to the very blonde prettiness of Miss Corbin. In the picture "No Place to Go," Miss Corbin wears this costume as well as several others indicating the new mode in winter clothes.

Flashes of Fashion of Interest to All Women

Chartreuse and yellow greens, as well as aquamarine shades, are among the interesting new color developments.

Vionnet has scored with English wool coats and dresses. Black tulle dance and dinner dresses often are draped to one side and ornamented with a huge choux of silk.

Badger and natural tux, raccoon, and furs in soft or creamy tins and browns are much in evidence on coats. While a certain amount of gray fur is used, it is brown fur that is important.

Marten, sable, fox, and other animal scarfs are joined and used for elongated collars, or worn as separate neckpieces.

Suede shoes, especially brown, have been revived and are worn with fur coats and with stockings blending with brown fur. Feather flowers have burst into mass popularity. Turbans again. Also a revival of coiffure bands for evening wear.

Cloth Made Moth-Proof by Many Manufacturers

Clothes moths really do have a hard time chewing up woolen cloth and other fabrics of animal origin that have been impregnated with one of the various moth-proofing solutions now in wide use, according to Dr. E. A. Back of the bureau of entomology of the United States Department of Agriculture. It is misleading, however, to offer an absolute guarantee of protection, he states, and the common method of merely spraying the fabrics confers but little protection. The only way to do the job thoroughly is to wet the cloth while it is still in the whole piece, and many manufacturers have installed special machinery for this purpose.

Unpressed Plaits

An egg-plant purple velvet dress has a surprise bodice and irregular panels to the skirt which leaves its deep plaits unpressed to simulate gathers.

STOPS FALLING HAIR

Lucky Hair Lotion is a new and revolutionary hair treatment. It is the only hair lotion that stops falling hair. It is the only hair lotion that stops falling hair. It is the only hair lotion that stops falling hair.

Hudson Seal Used to Trim Coats and Gowns

Hudson seal is the first of the heavier furs to be cut up into the complicated plaques and incrustations that are now so much in vogue for coats and gowns of silk and wool. Short Vogue shows some of the most ambitious of these intricately seemed effects. One coat of Hudson seal was named both front and back in a series of laddering 'V's and was draped to the left. Almost everything imaginable has been done to fur heretofore except to drape it—it has always been considered too bulky for that—but this coat manages to introduce draping and still retain both its slenderness and chic.

Muffs have come back! Rather striking and lacustrous little muffs, to be sure, but muffs for all that. Generally they are made in a semi-circular shape about twelve inches across. If a small, round and flat pillow, with a gathered puffing encircling it, were to be cut in two, the result would look very much like these little muffs. They are made in hellebore, in shaved lamb or in any of the clipped furs of clothlike texture.

Aged One Thousand Years

The durability of hardwood is excellently illustrated by a redwood log which has recently been cut up into lumber in California. This log, which had lain on the ground for a thousand years, as proved by the annual rings in a tree that had grown up astraddle of the log, was cut up into small and useful lumber within the past few months.

Down from Canada came tales of a wonderful beverage

For years and years, visitors to Canada had come back with tales of a wonderful ginger ale. Friends would listen and smack their lips and ask if there wasn't some way to purchase it in this country. And the answer was always "No."

Finally, in 1921 "Canada Dry" was officially brought to the United States. It was soon necessary to establish separate plants in this country to care for the demand. Today, "Canada Dry" is known the wide world over and its growth in public favor is one of the most inspiring stories of success in the history of American business. The reason is simply that "Canada Dry" is a real ginger ale, made from real Jamaica ginger.

"Canada Dry" does not contain capsaicum (red pepper). It leaves no unpleasant after-effect. It has an exquisite flavor... a dryness... an allure and witchery that gives it distinction. It is so pure that it is served in leading hospitals. Try it with dinner tonight! You'll never know how good ginger ale can be until you drink "Canada Dry."

Mother-Daughter Banquet at "Y"

The Mother and Daughter Banquet held by the Business Girls' Club of the Y. W. C. A. at the Y. W. C. A. on Wednesday evening was one of the most delightful and largely attended affairs held there in a long time. The windows and big overhanging lights were artistically draped in rose colored crepe paper while the long tables had rose colored candles and pretty rose favors. All with candy mist, giving the big room a most festive appearance. There were fully a hundred mothers and daughters who sat down to a delicious supper, the following being the menu: Chicken on blanchet, mashed potatoes, creamed onions, celery, bread and butter, salad, ice cream and cake, coffee. There was singing during the banquet, and the mothers—whom it was hard to tell from daughters, because they looked so young and happy—could do some singing stunts just as well as the daughters. Before the pleasing program arranged in honor of the mothers was given, there were two important announcements. Mrs. Thompson invited all of the girls—mother girls or daughter girls—to attend the open meeting of the Federation of Women's Clubs at the chapel of the Rensselaer Presbyterian Church on Abbot street on Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock to hear Crystal Bird, who has been the head of the Colored Girls' Club Reserve of the Y. W. C. A. Another selection by the Mandolin Club was greatly enjoyed and then came two big "laughs". The first was the repetition of the cleverly written and staged "Lucky Night" of the advance showing of the 1928 Ford model. The second was a repetition of one of the characters in the coming Schubert Choral Club concert, with Helmut Werrenath, the famous baritone soloist, as the great attraction, which but of laughter, to the eyes of the spectators as well as the afflicted patient.

Then came a very graceful, picturesque solo dance given by Miss Helen Amfeldt, a pupil of Miss Margaret Richards, the dance being entitled "Lyric of Spring". The happy evening came to a close with a final number by the Mandolin Club.

MODENA. Jan. 19.—Members of the twenty-fifth anniversary celebration of that organization, Monday evening, January 16. The Grange Hall was beautifully decorated in silver and white festoons, an entertainment was splendidly presented and refreshments were served. An excellent time was reported by those who attended. The Plattekill Gun and Rod Club announce the date of their next day pigeon shooting match as Saturday, February 11. The three act play, "A Run for Her Money," to be presented at Clintonville in the near future, will be presented by the following cast of characters: Adelaide Ransom, Miss Helen Steicher, Corinna Meeker, Mrs. Harry Gerow, Helen, the heart hungry, Winfield Jenkins, Mrs. Ralph Van Sicker, Mrs. Kenneth Kennedy-King, Mrs. Gershon Mount, Edward Bailey, Mrs. Ralph Van Sicker, "Old Dilly", Siah Roosa, Gideon Warren, Gershon Mount, Sam, the colored boy, Alfred Carter. The date of presentation will be announced later. The truck of the National Discount Company attempting to pass Dunham's meat truck on the hill near Emory Conklin's, skidded on the slippery road and turned upside down. Fortunately no one was injured and apparently no damage done. The small Ford truck of C. Parker, electrician at New Platz, was upset after striking a bad place in the state road near Oliver C. DuBois's tenant house Monday. The bad condition of the road is due to the frost leaving the ground; many of these places are evident on similar roads throughout the county. Mr. and Mrs. Emory Conklin and Mr. and Mrs. J. Peterson motored to New York last week and attended the automobile show. Abraham D. Wager has a new Oldsmobile six sedan, bought of Thomas Elliott of the Central Garage at New Platz. Mrs. Leonard Coy and son, Leonard, Jr., have been staying at Mrs. Roy Hornbeck's for some time. Joseph Doolittle, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Doolittle, is ill with measles. Mrs. Oscar Smith visited Mr. and Mrs. Noah Paltridge Sunday afternoon. John Sheffield has bought a Ford coupe of Howard Bennett. Mrs. E. E. Miller and son, Myron, visited relatives at Poughkeepsie Saturday and Sunday of last week. While at Poughkeepsie Mrs. Miller called at Dr. Sadler's Sanitarium, where Mrs. Joseph E. Hasbrouck, Jr., of this place, is a patient. Mr. and Mrs. Archie Mackey were out of town callers Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Elliott of New Platz were business callers in this place Monday. Miss Edith Paltridge spent Sunday at her grandfather's, Joseph Paltridge. Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Ostrander of Newburgh were callers on relatives in this place Sunday. Miss R. Paltridge called on Mrs. Oscar Smith last Friday afternoon. Mr. and Mrs. Harry Gerow and daughter were Sunday evening visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Wager. Mr. and Mrs. Lester Wager visited a morning ride over Storm King Highway near Mountain and Seven Lakes last Sunday afternoon. Extensive repairs are being made in the tenant house of Oliver C. DuBois. Mrs. H. Koppel was a caller in New Platz Tuesday afternoon. Several students of Hudson school are taking lessons in painting at New Platz this week. Joseph Mackey, Jr., and son, Joseph, visited with Mr. Hasbrouck at the Sadler's Sanitarium Sunday. Waymont Carter was among those who attended the annual day meeting at New York city last week. Mr. and Mrs. Ward Black and daughter, Mrs. Ward Black, were Newburgh callers Tuesday. Many people from this place attended the twenty-fifth anniversary celebration of the Clintonville Grange Monday evening. Anson Armstrong has had his long hair shaved at Kingston, where he intends to go in the near future. Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Wager and family, Mrs. Preston Paltridge and daughter, Gloria, visited friends at Stone Ridge Tuesday. Mr. and Mrs. Granville Sutton and daughter, Dolores, and Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Smith and family on Thursday evening. Mrs. Hector Every and daughter, Berenice, and Mrs. James Every called on Mrs. Frank Black on Saturday afternoon. Mr. and Mrs. Myron Shultis spent Friday evening with relatives at Kingston. Mrs. Minerva Wager and family spent Wednesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. Hasbrouck. The Madison House Luncheon held a meeting at the home of Miss Emma Palmer at Ardenia on Wednesday. A lesson on how to prepare cheap and tough cut of meats was given. Meats prepared were mock duck, jellied veal, stuffed veal shanks and veal brains. At 12:30 the members had dinner, which consisted of mock duck, stuffed veal shank, jellied veal brains, bread, butter, mashed potatoes, lima beans, macaroni and tomatoes, peas, cabbage salad, cranberries, fruit cocktail, apple pie and coffee. Members present were Mrs. Lillian Paltridge, Mrs. Myron Shultis, Mrs. Ward Black and Doris, Mrs. Harold Paltridge, Mrs. Hallowell Harris, Mrs. Rufus Jenkins, Mrs. William E. Harcourt, Miss Emma Palmer, Mrs. George Althoff, Mrs. R. J. Byrne, Mrs. Oscar Smith, Mrs. I. Hyatt, Mrs. Albert Terwilliger and

There's Real Medicine Now For Stubborn, Hang-on Coughs

When nothing seems to do that hinders, die hard cough any good, get go and get a bottle of Bronchus Emulsion. Take this REAL cough medicine as directed and notice how easily and speedily it overcomes that persistent, obstinate cough, that has caused you many sleepless nights, and miserable days. It's a medicine compounded for the purpose of conquering tough, hang-on coughs, that cheap ordinary syrups can't touch and that's exactly what it does—quickly and thoroughly. There is no dope in Bronchus Emulsion, nor chloroform, nor such things as only make shifts and should be taken with the greatest caution. For ordinary coughs two doses of Bronchus Emulsion is usually enough. Ask McBride Drug Stores about it or any progressive druggist.

Then came the program, Miss Dorothy Kennedy, president of the Business Girls' Club of the Y. W. C. A., giving the mothers a most cordial welcome, in which she expressed, for the girls, the hope that the mothers would have so good a time that they would come soon again. Following a very pleasing selection played well by the Crescendo Mandolin Club, Miss Eva Rand, her own accompanist, sang as a solo a medley of the old songs which it would be safe to say were not only favorites of the mothers present but of their mothers, too. Miss Rand sang so well that the people of Kingston would be glad enough of the opportunity to hear Victor artist and radio star to make the concert a complete success. Tickets will be on sale for the concert at the Y. W. C. A. beginning Monday next, when reserved seat coupons can be obtained.

IN THE BARNYARD

THE barnyard quite often there was story telling. One of the hens would tell the little chicks stories of adventures they had had and of good and bad deeds they had performed.

Mother Turkey would tell her children how they should act and would explain to them how miserable, for example, little turkeys had been who had disobeyed their mothers and had let their feet get wet during the first weeks of their lives.

Red Top the Rooster would boast of the days when he had been a young rooster and tell of how every one had paid attention to him and had listened, amazed and wonder-struck, at his cawing.

"Ah He Did Was to Call for His Doctor Friends."

The pigs would grunt and squeal and tell of famous pigs in the family—pigs who had been splendidly greedy and wonderful eaters!

There were stories to tell which would make the animals laugh and giggle and at times the barnyard was filled with the laughter of the barnyard animals—such funny laughter as it is, too.

Maybe you have heard it at times? Of course, too, at times the animals did all sorts of things which would never be forgotten and later on these actions would be described to even younger chicks and turkeys and pigs and ducks.

Mrs. White Hen told of the days when she was a little and how every one admired her wedding feathers and said that they were just suitable, for every one really should have white for a wedding.

The parrot in the enormous cage on the back porch squeaked and screamed and yelled at times with excitement for he had lots to say for himself and lots to remember.

The parrot had, at one time, helped to collect money for a hospital. The money had been needed badly and the parrot had sat up on a balcony and had shrieked:

"We need money. The doctors need money for the hospital. Help the doctors. Help the doctors and the hospital with your money."

Every one had looked up and had seen that the parrot was making all these cries and it was the parrot who was so successful in raising the funds that were needed. That was a favorite story in the barnyard, and the parrot was very proud of that, too.

Then the parrot had at one time escaped from the hospital—he had thought it would be rather fun to go off adventuring. And one day he got away and flew up to the branch of a nearby tree, but all he did when there was to call for his doctor friends and they opened his cage door so that he was able to go back to safety and his own real home.

And later on he had been given to the farmer who owned this barnyard. Yes, the parrot was a splendid parrot to have around, so many adventures had he had!

So story telling and wonderful deeds had their part in the life of the barnyard.

And this life in the barnyard went along so that every day it seemed that the animals were even happier than the day before.

Dash, the dog, was like a private watchman for them, and altogether the barnyard was as jolly and pleasant a place as ever a group of barnyard animals could have.

And when the barnyard animals heard that not only had they their stories to tell and to act but that stories about them were being told all about, the pigs grunted, the rooster cawed, the hens cackled, the ducks quacked, and all the others chattered in their own peculiar way and said: "Well, we're glad people know of us! After all we're a pretty fine set of animals!"

SELF FAITH

NO POWER in the world can assist a person to accomplish a task if he thinks he cannot do it. The negative attitude toward life and work is always preventive of good results. The person who doubts his own ability to sell an article of merchandise is not likely to sell it. One who has little or no faith in his own capacity to achieve a certain result has already begun to fail.

Doubt is the negative attitude of mind. It creates cowardice, timidity and the lack of a convincing personality. Before a victory can be achieved, we must honestly believe in our ability. Faith in one's self is the key which unlocks the doors to successful ventures.

Every victory in life is first won from within one's own mind and heart before it is won on the outside. A person's victories will never rise higher than his own self-confidence. The power of a statement or argument is the product of one's own conviction. No one can convince another of what he himself knows to be false.

It is the positive and not the negative attitude in life that wins.

THE "CUPBOARD"

ITS in the cupboard" we frequently hear today when what is meant ranges from "it's in the china chest" to "the sideboard" or "the dish closet." Although the contraption from which the word "cupboard" had its origin is now obsolete the term survives and is frequently applied to its modern substitutes.

"Cupboard" gained a place in our language from the fact that the cups and plates of a household originally had a place on a wide shelf or board built over the meat dresser whose use corresponded to our modern serving table.

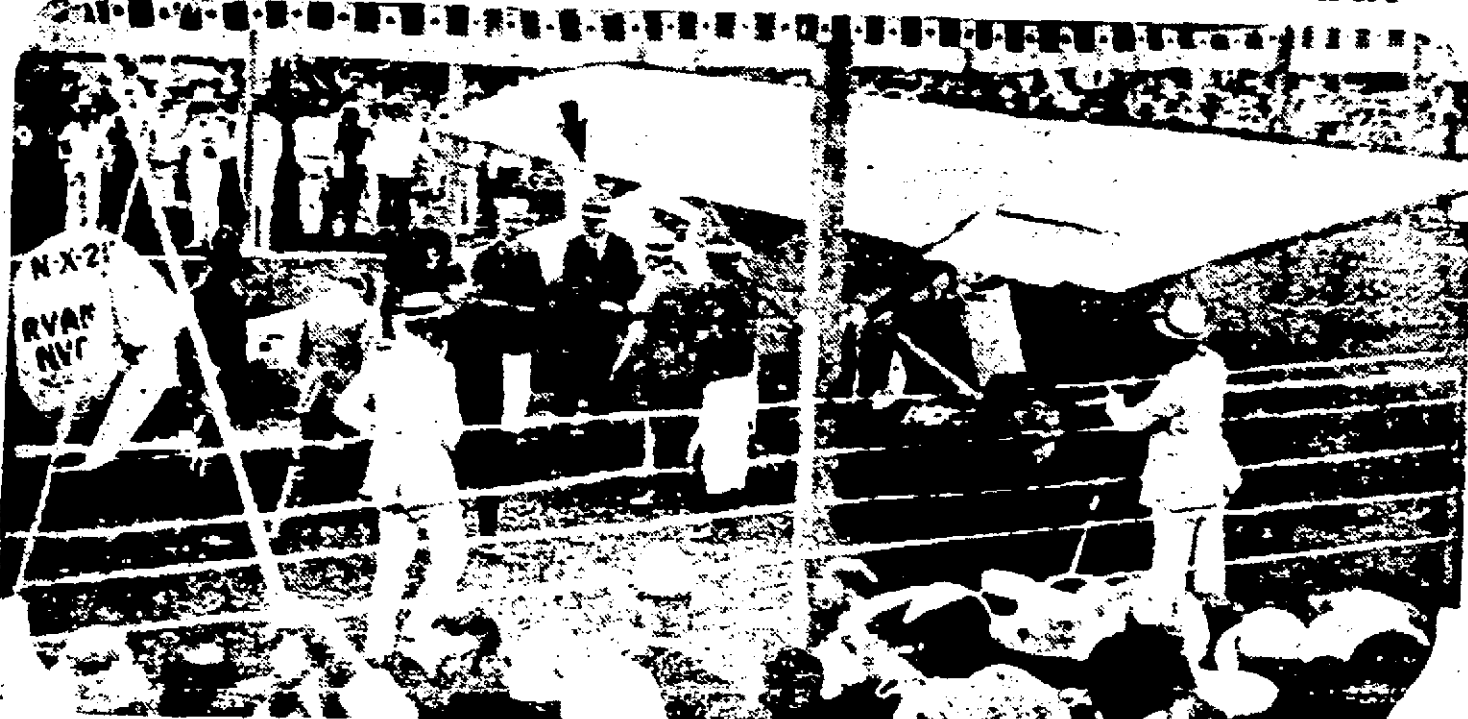

In antique pieces and reproductions the literal cupboard can still be seen, unadorned, over the dresser, and so bearing little resemblance to the closet arrangements which are frequently endowed with its name today.

Strengthening the Entire Structure of all Business

IN THE building of any arch there is a necessary fundamental that occasions much thought and care,—the keystone, that part which supports and ties together both sides of the arch. So in all business there must be a supporting and strengthening wedge which ties together the individual structures of both manufacturer and dealers.

The only satisfactory keystone in the commercial structure is one that builds acceptance for the manufacturer and sales for the retailer—thus becoming a support of tangible value. To build with anything short of the strongest keystone is to invite disaster to the entire structure.

Newspaper advertising has been proven as a dependable keystone, one which strengthens the entire structure of all business. The primary function of newspaper advertising is to build business by creating sales with the resultant increase in profits and good will.

The newspapers of New York State, outside of New York City, fit perfectly into the fundamental processes of business, for they possess in abundance those factors of strength which create acceptance and sales. These newspapers reach a huge market of 1,175,288 families which are ranked high in buying power. The value of the supporting and strengthening power is clearly evidenced by the fact that it is possible to use an advertising campaign of 5,000 lines, divided any way to suit the purpose desired, in a daily circulation of 1,531,466 for a total cost of less than 2 1/2¢ per family.

For further information as to cost, suggested campaigns or for any data on New York State as a market, the executives of this newspaper or the Advertising Bureau, New York State Publishers, 709 Charlotte Street, Utica, New York, will gladly furnish all those facts which will assist in building greater returns from this rich field.

WHY IS A TIDE? HERE'S ANSWER

Man Can Comprehend
Half of Reason—Rest
Not So Easy.

Why is a tide? The answer is easy, points out the Washington (D. C.) members of the National Geographic Society. But most laymen find it hard to comprehend. It is so easy to understand that it is almost impossible to pull a layman's mind to the side of the question. "Why is a tide?" says the layman. "Why at the same time does the moon pull up a tide on the side of the earth?"

The explanation of the formation of a tide on the far side of the earth is not as simple as it seems. It is not the moon that draws the water out from the solid part of the earth, so it draws the water out from the moon. But the average layman is likely to rebel at this explanation, since he does not see in his mind the implications of celestial mechanics that go with it.

The explanation begins with the fact that the moon does not simply revolve in an orbit around the earth, but it revolves around the earth in a circle.

How Force Operates.
"When you playfully grasp a small ball in your hands and swing it around in a circle you cannot stand and pivot on a single heel. Instead you must lean backward and make tiny steps in a very small circle in order to maintain your balance. The small circle which your feet follow is traced out in the opposite direction to the larger circle traced by the swinging feet of the whirling youngster."

"The situation with regard to the earth and moon is similar. The earth which connects these two whirling globes is just as real as though it depended on a huge steel shaft, several hundred miles in diameter, connecting them. When the earth swings the moon around it, the earth must lean back, so to speak, in a little circle (or ellipse) of its own."

"What happens is that both bodies revolve around their common center of gravity. Since the earth has a mass so much greater than that of the moon this common center of gravity is not in space between the globes, but lies inside the earth, along a line connecting the earth and moon centers. It is as though you had a freshish dumbbell made up of a heavy ten-pin ball fixed to one end of the connecting shaft, and a small boy's marble fixed to the other. The balancing point would lie inside the big ball. You could find it (or the surface point above it), drive in a tack, and hang the balanced balls up by a string. Now, if you twisted the string the little ball would revolve about the line of the string in a large circle, and at the same time the larger side of the big ball would revolve around the same line in a small circle."

"In the case of the earth and moon, the 'balancing point,' or common center of gravity is about 1,000 miles below the surface of the earth, and about 3,000 miles short of the earth's center."

If There Were No Moon.
"Now imagine, for a moment, that the earth were somehow fixed in space, neither rotating nor revolving, with no moon in the heavens, and with no other forces acting on it but its own gravity. Its water surfaces would tend to form parts of a perfect sphere, no bulges. Now imagine the moon to be placed 239,000 miles away (its present average distance) and at the same time to be fixed in space; so motion to either earth or moon, further, assume that moon and earth attract each other as they now do. The waters of the earth would bulge up on the side nearest the moon because the moon would pull them to a certain extent away from the rocky part of the (fixed) earth. But there would be no bulge on the far side of the earth."

"Now imagine the earth and moon to start revolving around their common center of gravity once every 27 1/3 days, as at present, but not rotating on their axes. Two fixed bulges would now exist, the one toward the moon would grow less than when the earth was motionless, but would still be held up by the moon's pull."

"But why would the bulge arise on the far side of the earth from the moon?"

Striving to Fly Apart.
"The earth and moon, revolving around their common center of gravity at approximately one month, are striving to fly apart, and to strike out in space on straight paths that would carry them away from each other. They cannot really fly apart because gravitation holds them together, but once the less they are constantly trying to fly out."

"Consider now only the earth's tendency. Continually the earth seeks to fly out in a straight line away from the moon, and continually the moon keeps it back into the little orbit that has been described. But the water on the side of the earth away from the moon is 4500 miles farther from the moon than is the center of the earth; and it is free to flow as the solid earth is not. Therefore this remote water is pulled back with a weaker force than the solid earth, and so get somebody else than myself to lead here."

Robinson Gets Confidence Vote

"Well," Hefflin countered, "you have no content to lead now."

Attacks Pope and Smith.
Hefflin held the floor for more than two hours with his criticism of Hearst before drawing the fire of Robinson when he turned his guns anew on the Catholics and Governor Smith. Attacking the "Pope of Home and Al Smith," Hefflin warned Democrats not to nominate the New York governor for presidency. "If Smith is nominated," he said, "The Republicans can defeat him with anybody but from fifteen to twenty million votes."

"The American people," he added, "knowing what the Roman Catholic political machine is doing, are not going to put him in the White House just now. Any leader in the South who supports Al Smith will never come back to the Capital."

During his reply, Senator Robinson took Hefflin to task for his frequent outbursts against the Catholics and declared that "he does his country no service who lights the torch of sounds the cry of religious intolerance and persecution." He charged that "with peculiarly bad taste, without justification in the conscience of a single one of his colleagues, the senator from Alabama has lugged into this debate the name of prospective presidential candidates."

Robinson declared that he had so often heard Hefflin denounce the Catholic Church and the Pope of Home and the cardinals and the bishops and the priests and the nuns that he was "sick and tired of it as a democrat."

Hefflin charged his party leader to make that speech in Alabama and Robinson replied that he would make it there and in Alabama as well.

"We," declared the Alabamian, "and if you do, they will tear and feather you."

It is no use to put on your Sunday-meeting clothes of de heart whar's under 'em needs whitewashin'—Frank L. Stanton.

Paris Creates Gowns for Artificial Light.
Paris.—Dresses exclusively for wear under artificial light are created by one Paris designer. Dance frocks are displayed by a modern terpsichore known as the Paris dancing mannequin, whose feet move constantly in a series of complicated dance steps as she exhibits to prospective buyers. We have an opportunity to see clothes as they actually appear in the pill-less glare of light and under the most trying circumstances of the dance floor.

Bad but Usable.
Verbalize the first. Next come all a smart to do it. Hefflin. He took a short rest after the speech to eat and drink. It was one with a line. Stanton said: "Not that there are sixteen thousand in a senatorial work but that the time of a senator's work is long."

Of the senatorial work, a Parisian. Stanton said: "Not that there are sixteen thousand in a senatorial work but that the time of a senator's work is long."

Counted Out.
Jacques the Senator, was told by her old-fashioned grandfather, who once followed the sea, that she must wait to school herself every morning on her two legs and must rely on nobody else—that to bank on being offered a lift in the matters of neighbors and acquaintances was a cheap and unbecoming ploy for a Spencer. "They on nobody else," snorted the old man, an expert at weekday preaching.

"I can rely on two people," quoth Jacqueline.
"Who?"
"On God and myself."

"What about your parents?" asked he, fishing.
"Oh, they're wise."

Financial and Commercial

New York, Jan. 19 (AP)—A quiet, steady market characterized today's stock market. The attendance of money dealers at the post office, after a brief interval of 1, tended to bring the market over the quiet situation. Although early traders showed a disposition to keep out of the market, the moderate volume of the weekly market was not a factor in the market's movement.

There was little in the day's trading to indicate a change in the market's movement. The market was down 1 1/2 points to 115 1/2 at the close of a 51-cent but hardly made up for loss.

Some sharp gains were recorded by individual market operations which figure only in add but trading. Southern Railway Mobile and Ohio certificates added nearly 20 points to their 15 point gain of yesterday, by touching 149 1/2. Hanna first preferred jumped 8 points and American Metals preferred four.

Trading was unusually quiet, averaging less than 300,000 shares an hour in the first three hours.

What To See In Jamaica

Going to Market With Hand-Made Baskets.

(Prepared by the National Geographic Society, Washington, D. C.)
AS ONE approaches Jamaica from the United States his ship rounds South East point, the eastern extremity of the island, and turns its nose westward. On it sails past Port Morant and Yallahs bay, with a fair palm-studded plain off the starboard rail as you could ever wish to see, guarded in the background by the splendor of the Blue mountains, rising to an ultimate height of nearly a mile and half above the strand.

Then heaven in sight the historic Palisades, that narrow spit which separates Kingston harbor from the Caribbean sea and beyond which lies the capital city of the British West Indies.

As you round the head of the Palisades you view what you may of Port Royal, that vanished city of "battle, murder and sudden death"—well known to us in song and story of pieces of eight, of golden doubloons, and pearls of price plundered from his Spanish majesty's citizens of the New World who followed in the wake of the Great Admiral.

Port Royal is, in good truth, not much to look at today. Port Charles, the coast defense of Kingston, stands there, with its inscription that gives instant pause to visiting feet: "In this place dwelt Horatio Nelson. You who tread his footsteps, remember his glory." There, also, is the paved platform over which the future hero of Trafalgar so impatiently paced to and fro while, spry in hand, he watched with tired young eyes for the dreaded French fleet that was expected to attack Port Royal in 1779.

Once the City of Gold.
Before 1692 Port Royal was the City of Gold. In the words of Henderson: "Bearded seamen, bronzed and weather-stained, but decked with priceless jewelry and the finest silks of the Orient, swaggered along its quays and gambled with the heavy gold coins whose value no one cared to estimate. The drinking shops were filled with cups of gold and silver, embellished with flashing gems torn from half a hundred cutthroats. Each house was a treasure store. The place was a gilded hells, and mammon held sovereign sway over its people. Common seamen hung their ears with heavy gold rings studded with the costliest gems. Dagger thrusts were as common as brawls, and the body of a murdered man would remain in a dancing room until the dancing was over. Gold and precious stones were cheap, but life was cheaper. And every man in that crowd of pirates lived beneath the shadow of the gallows."

This was not to go on forever, for these pirates counted without the law of compensation and retribution. On June 7, 1692, with the council of the island in session, a tremendous earthquake shook Port Royal "from turret to foundation stone." In the council minutes describing the catastrophe it is reported that "in the space of two minutes all of the churches, the dwelling houses, and sugar works of the whole island were thrown down; two-thirds of Port Royal swallowed up by the sea; all its forts and fortifications demolished, and a great part of its inhabitants miserably either 'knocked on the head or drowned.'"

A brief sail takes one's ship from old Port Royal to the dock at Kingston, the Jamaican capital, born of Port Royal's misfortune. For after the second great earthquake at Port Royal in 1692, followed by disasters of fire and hurricane, its people, fearing further revolt of Mother Earth, moved to the mainland and established Kingston, with its great harbor, nine miles long and about two miles broad.

Kingston is the center of island activity from the standpoint of both government and business. The streets are clean, well ordered, and dotted with traffic officers, for even in this Garden of Eden the fiery gasoline steed races its way about. The shops are many and varied, and those entering to the white trade have excellent qualities of merchandise, home-grown as well as imported, from England. There is no bargaining in these emporiums, for the prices are fixed and fair and you are waited upon by grave-miened colored clerks who have all the suavity and dignity of a Regent street draper. It is a different story, however, in the cheaper stores, for in this stratum bargaining seems to be the natural order.

Visitors in foreign climes usually find it necessary to visit the market place; why, no one really knows, but here it is worth while. The market women are a cheery lot, and while displaying their small stock of really tropical products—pepper pods, coconuts, sour sops, breadfruit, mango, pimento, and "Jackass rope," as native tobacco is termed, together with a score of fruits and vegetables unknown except by name to the Northern visitor—they carry on a cross-fire of good humor. They cry out a Yankee with the eye of a sharpshooter, and will smilingly assert that they "love Americans" and that you would "look much handsomer in one of the fine Jipjapa straw hats."

SAUGERTIES RESIDENT COMMITTED TO NAPANOCH

Clark Winne of the town of Saugerties was committed to the Napanoch Institution for Defective Delinquents Wednesday and his case stricken from the criminal calendar now being taken up in county court. Winne was indicted for corrupting the morals of a minor. On examination by physicians his condition led Judge Fowler to send him to Napanoch instead of trying him under the indictment. His case was the first of the criminal calendar and when that case was stricken from the calendar Samuel Adams, charged with grand larceny, was placed on trial.

O. & W. MIDDLETOWN SHOPS HAVE BEEN SHUT DOWN

The unusually mild winter and slack coal business combined Wednesday to throw between 350 and 500 New York, Ontario & Western railroad shovemen in Middletown out of work for an indefinite period. In all, including idle trainmen, track workers and others affected indirectly by sluggish movement of coal from the mines, more than 700 Middletown railroad men are idle because of warm weather, says the Middletown Times Herald. In the notices posted in the Middletown railroad shops the layoff is given as "indefinite."

Memorial.
In memory of Mary Theresa Heaney.
Just a year ago today a precious one from us has gone.
A voice we loved is stilled.
A place is vacant in our home.
Which never can be filled.
God in His wisdom has recalled the one His love has given and though
The body slumbers here,
The soul is safe in heaven.

Large Attendance At Poultry School

The annual meeting of the Kingston Poultry Association was held at the local high school last night. The meeting was held at 8 o'clock and was attended by a large number of poultry raisers from the surrounding area. The program consisted of a lecture on the care of poultry, followed by a discussion of the current market for poultry products. The meeting was held in the gymnasium and was well attended.

POULTRY

EGGS IN WINTER ARE PROFITABLE

Winter is the very time when eggs are worth the most, when hens want to lay as much or more than they do at any other time, and when they are not allowed to do so by most poultry keepers. Poultry raisers are a great mystery about making hens lay in winter. There is no doubt; anybody can do it; that is, the hens will lay if you let them. They bear a good deal of cold in the winter, and even freeze their combs and toes, and yet will not stop laying altogether if they can sleep warm.

They are warm themselves, and usually only need to be crowded on their roosts, with the roosts all on one level. The ceiling of the roosting room should be only a few feet above the floor, and provided with ventilation from the floor if possible. Give them very close quarters, with no draughts of cold air, and clean out under the roosts every morning. The combs will then reddens up, and eggs will be plenty on less feed than usual. It must not be corn, however, or only a small percentage of it, for this will make them too fat to lay well if they sleep warm.

A good way to arrange a hen house for winter is to make a ceiling of rails about six feet above the floor, covering the rails with hay, or coarse straw hay of any kind. The roosts should be about three feet high above the floor, and movable, so that they may be kept perfectly clean. For small flocks of 20 to 50 hens, it is little trouble to take the roosts down every morning when the floor is cleaned, and replace them at night. It removes from lazy fowls the temptation to sit in idleness on the roost for half the day.

Keep Chickens in Good Health by Giving Oats

One of the best ways to keep chickens in good health is to feed green food. It acts as a regulator, keeping the bowels open. Sprouted oats are as good a source of green food as anything, when fed, roots and all, to the layers once a day as much as the birds will clean up in about half an hour.

The oats are soaked for 24 hours in warm water, that is, slightly warmer than room temperature. They are then spread in trays of any convenient size to a depth of about one and one-half inches and allowed to sprout until the green sprouts are about three inches long, at which time they are fed. If the oats can be kept at a temperature of about 70 degrees, the sprouting will be more satisfactory than if the room is cool. To prevent the oats from becoming moldy, wash and disinfect the trays when they are emptied after each sprouting. Three or four drops of formalin may be put in each pail of water used for soaking the oats before they are spread on the trays.

Sometimes the oats are allowed only to germinate, that is, they are soaked in water as for sprouting and are spread on the trays but are not permitted to sprout to the extent described above. They are fed when the sprouts show a length of only one-fourth inch. They are not green. These germinated oats are frequently mixed in the mash and fed.

Metal Bands Are Useful in Culling Hen Flock

In order to systematically cull the poultry flock, one should know how old the hens are. All two-year hens ought to be sold, with the exception of those to be used for breeders. This is especially true of the general purpose and heavier breeds. If the pullets are marked with some kind of a metal band, one will have no chance for guesswork.

Special sealed bands may be secured for the purpose or ordinary round hog rings may be used. The advantage of the regular bands lies in the fact that each hen can be identified. If the bands are put on the left leg one year and on the right leg the next year, one has an accurate mark by which he can tell the age of the hens.

Sand Is Essential

Sand is essential for hens to supply grit, but not for dusting material. Even fine sand would not be dusty enough to do any good from the standpoint of a dust bath. Hens dust themselves in order to keep lice under control and their feathers in good condition. The fine dust gets into the breathing pores of the lice, thereby exterminating them. Supply the hens with a good-quality dust and then give them sharp sand so that they can pick up the grit.

Hen to Keep

The kind of a hen to keep is one that is strong and vigorous with a short, neat head and a strong beak. She has a long, deep, rectangular body, the top and bottom lines of which are parallel. She has large bright eyes, is active and has short, well-worn toe nails. She isn't much for appearance, but has a bright, healthy look. She molts late and rapidly; is noisy, happy and friendly. She retires late and is off the roost with the break of day.

Architectural Term

The "recessional building" is a term applied to the new style of architecture, seen, for example, in many of the New York structures. As the building increases in height, the width of the floors is reduced, so that seemingly the building tapers.

Kingston to Have Revival Meetings

A series of revival meetings will be held at the local Salvation Army Citadel, 54 North Front street, beginning Saturday at 8 p. m., January 21, and continuing to Sunday, January 22. Captain Garrett Kipp, house, officer in charge of the local Salvation Army, has accepted the very fine position to conduct these services. One is Adjutant John Seddon of Divisional Headquarters, Yonkers, N. Y., and the other, Philip Major Charles Wadsworth of New York city.

The meetings will commence every evening at 8 o'clock. A ready number are expected to attend these services each night. There will be plenty of music and singing, also testimony to endorse the service. Captain Kipphouse extends an invitation to all those desirous of attending these revival services.

Miss Mac Fadden Monitored at College

Miss Dorothy Elberta Mac Fadden, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elbert F. Mac Fadden of Fair street, who is attending Southern College (for girls) at Petersburg, Va., has just received two honors. In the first annual college play of the season to be given shortly, Miss Mac Fadden was chosen to take the leading male part in Bernard Shaw's "Fanny's First Play" and she also has a part in the prologue. Not only will this play be given at the college but on January 26 and 27 it will be given in the Century Theatre at Petersburg. Miss Mac Fadden was recently elected secretary of the Literary Club of Southern College.
